Historical Rivalry Plus Ability In Rams-Blue Devil Game Tonight

By Butterball

You want to know how the game's coming out tonight? Well, when it's over, you'll say: "Gee, wasn't that some game?" You'll see everything common to college and/or professional football — long and short kicks, fumbles, intercepted passes, hard tackling, surprise plays, long gains, and long losses — and it'll be SOME game. The Bill Young Trophy is the formal recognition of the night's winner. This trophy has been won by Belle Glade High School and by the Blue Devils nine times, with each keeping it one year with the.

The Rams come into this game with a paper record of strength superior to that of the Blue Devils, with a record of three wins and six losses. The Blue Devils have one win, one tie and seven losses. However, with abilities demonstrated by each team in certain phases of the game, and with the old Rams-Blue Devil rivalry, anything may, and most likely will happen.

You may rest assured, that however the final score, no game promises more interesting football than does this contest. Come on out tonight at eight o'clock to root for your favorite, to be chagrined and to be joyed — you'll see a FOOT-BALL GAME.

Cuban Import Rule Application Asked

Senator Smathers and Congressman Rogers have asked that all sanctions against Communist Cuba be invoked, including import restrictions against vegetables and other crops domestically produced.

Now in effect and practical group of Florida farmers have taken a series of actions giving a grass roots backing to these requests for administrative protection.

The Board of Directors of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association in meeting at Orlando Thursday requested the Florida State Department of Agriculture to demand immediate action on the part of our government that Cuban fruits and vegetables, blackstrap molasses and other commodities in direct competition with Florida products be embargoed on the basis of the Communist regime of the Cuban government.

Any further delay in this action will result in serious injury not only to Florida producers but many others throughout the United States.

IT'S THANKSGIVING

Our employees appreciate the spirit of Thanksgiving and the privilege of some associations on that day.

Our advertisers are enticing the public to buy, in many cases, for the price of a Thanksgiving dinner.

The post office employees also enjoy Thanksgiving with home. If you miss news this week, look for it next week, for we're printing the paper Wednesday morning — before you get up in order to satisfy the above circumstances.

Five Glades packing houses donated the vegetables featured on THE HERALD, and many North Florida visitors marveled at the quality and variety of our farm products as well as the quality and variety of the world-wide products at the world-wide convention.

The Post Times was host to the group at a Luau and floor show on Myunon Island following a moonlight cruise on the Paddle Wheel Launch.

One juvenile was convicted of breaking and entering.

Private Water Control And Subdrainage Districts Credited With Flood "Save"

In discussing a combined report of county agents, farmers and their own employees, concerning damage of recent floods, the C&SF FCD says: "Of major importance in flood damage reduction was the existence, or lack of existence, of adequate secondary facilities."

Also, "Where adequate secondary facilities were in existence in areas served by Project works, the total flood damage reduction was prevented, or reduced to a minimum, by the combined effect of the two integrated systems."

Even, "Where works are not yet in existence (Project), but are planned, some degree of flood damage reduction was obtained as a result of drainage systems installed by individuals or sub-drainage districts."

The reports say, "The rainfall which occurred during the 1960 rainy season for the Glades area was the most intense rainfall in the District since the inception of the Project, and the report emphasizes that the Glades area sustained flood damage were sustained even though the rainfall intensity was less than in other years."

Hoover Dike Dedication January 12 Expected To Draw 25,000 Visitors

Mr. Assessor: $8,580 Per Acre Rent-Some Value! For some twenty years there has been a six-inch water line along the west end of NW Thirteenth serving an inadequate fire protection to packing houses, ware houses and rolling equipment of the FEC railroad. Finally able to increase the size of the line to a more adequate system of fire protection, the City is informed by the FEC that they want 600 per foot annual rental for permission to use the new line. There is approximately 1,100 feet of the line involved, which would give a school kid multiplier around $660 annual rental.

Assuming a three-foot-wide strip for the easement, we have 3,300 square feet, which is one-thirtieth of an acre, on which the sum of $660 rental would be collected, or $5,880 per acre annually. Assuming a 12 per cent gross return reasonable, we find that the value of the land is $49,000 per acre - the FEC's valuation.

The City of Belle Glade has offered the FEC $1 per year for the rental, as it has never paid for an easement for public utilities, other than minimum legal necessity.

The railroad must have received attorneys bills for the rental, as it has never paid for an easement for public utilities, other than minimum legal necessity.

Fla. State Chamber Asks More Quotas

The Florida State Chamber of Commerce whose membership assistance at state conventions covers the state's business and industrial leadership, asks that the Mainland Sugar Acre marketing quota be increased "by not less than 200,000 short tons of sugar during the calendar years 1961, 62 and 63."

This was asked also, "continuing thereafter, to provide for expansion—plus such additional amount as will be required for expansion—"

Harry Vaughan of Clewiston, a Vice President of the Chamber, and Chairman of Governor Bryan's Sugar Committee, presented the resolution.

Luther Jones, also a Sugar Committee member, appearing before the resolution Committee.

The state-wide influence of the State Chamber as well as its National affiliations and contacts, makes it a most desirable member of the team in this effort.

Included in a subject of minutes, "Harvest Of Shame" Belle Glade will be mentioned in a CBS hour-long presentation on Friday night, Nov. 25th between 9:30 and 10:30. We promise to mention the full hour, but we WILL BE mentioned.

The nature of the publicity depends on the necessity to "make the story" by Producer David Lowe and the Narrator, Edward R. Murrow.

These nationally known personages headquartered at Northport Courts on visits to the Glades in preparation for the actual filming of the sequences. Local folks were interviewed, and local characters are included.

Whatever your reaction to the infections in the story, remember that a lot of folks will LEARN WHERE Belle Glade is, and WHAT we do for a living here.

That's costly information to get over to a national audience.

Rail Car Movement Lower Than In '59

Movement of fall vegetables is picking up daily, and prices are reported low to high, with a fair average.

At an organization meeting held Monday in the offices of Loy Anderson in the First Federal Saving & Loan building at West Palm Beach, plans were formulated for a 25,000 attendance at the dedication of the Hoover Dike on January 12th, at Clewiston when Mr. Hoover will be present.

The Governor, the Cabinet, The Florida State Chamber of Commerce and the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board are issuing invitations to Florida's legislative members, as well as the President's Cabinet and the National legislative membership.

Down In The Big Cypress

CAMPING IN BIG CYPRESS: Members of Troop 133, Girl Scouts and their guests enjoying a camping trip to the Big Cypress were (l-r) Audy Boyd, Barbara Wolf, Judy Green, Kay Campbell, Jo Berryhill, Mary Alice McMillan, Johnnie Nutt, Dawn Willis, Sherry Dupont, Pat Folsom, Standing, Mr. and Mrs. George Rawls, hosts to the group, Mary Lou Raulerson, Bonnie Jean Anderson and Mrs. Frank L. Anderson (not pictured) are Mrs. E. A. Wolf, troop leader and Mrs. Elmer Scutlock, who accompanied the troop. Troop members not on trip are Gracie Earwood, Peggy Farmer and Shella Rustin.

By A Girl Scout

Senior Girl Scout Troop 133 went on their last camping trip of the new scout year at the George Rawls Camp south of the Indian Reservation in the Big Cypress. It was an experience many of us will never forget.

Just getting going was a big deal. Shopping for fifteen people who enjoy going, is no easy job. Mrs. Emil Wolf, our leader took her station wagon and Mrs. Frank Anderson Troop committee member also drove her car. Mr. Dupont let us use his truck for equipment and Mrs. Scutlock drove it for us.

Exploring was the main entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. George Rawls, our hosts led our Troop back into the swamp, where we cut cypress knees, saw plants of all kinds and sampled swamp cabbage, highlighted by a thrilling swamp buggy ride, which was plenty of fun. Some girls are still sore—that "thing" was like a bucking horse. At that time was when the only

Get A Guarantee For Only Three

The opportunities available to a young man today who enlists in the U. S. Army, as opposed to being inducted, are remarkable. The one year difference between an enlistment for three years and induction for two years can pay big dividends in the young man's future.

Part of that additional year can be spent becoming well trained in a job of his choice or receiving technical schooling he has chosen himself. He can acquire vocational training in work he enjoys and he can choose his own travel and visit fascinating parts of the world that most people can never hope to see.

That additional year can give him a boost toward success in other ways too; he can learn to handle responsibility, to develop a mature point of view while building the leadership qualities within himself. He can continue his education, begin college level studies and perhaps even attend courses at civilian universities.

He can take advantage of these opportunities by enlisting in any way; he can learn to handle responsibility, to develop a mature point of view while building the leadership qualities within himself. He can continue his education, begin college level studies and perhaps even attend courses at civilian universities.

The most important advantage of voluntary enlistment is, in a word, CHOICE. Only by enlisting can he choose schooling or training in the field that interests him most and have it guaranteed in writing before he enlists. Only by enlisting can he take advantage of the many special opportunities offered young men by the Army today.

Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Stirling and Mrs. and Mrs. J. H. Dobson spent Wednesday in Homestead with The Stirling's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burkett.
